HE continued unseasonable weather - unsettled business conditions-preparations made for a big and busy season-all have combined to leave in the hands of manufacturers and wholesalers large overpluses of stocks. It's an emergency that can be met in only one way-a quick unloading and distribution. Our ready cash and extensive outlet gave us the access to many makers' stocks-to select the best and all the best, to pick and choose stocks that will prove magnetically attractive. Now, we bid you come to one of the most deservedly important distributions of merchandise ever held in Washington-the bargains have never been equaled-the prices are down to a mere shadow of what they should be. COME.

NOW FOR THE ANNUAL UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY SALE

Once each year the Underwear and Furnishings Department arranges a sale that is intended to be the record-breaker for the year. A tremendously successful sale last year called for greater effort and a wider buying scope this year. The results of last year must be surpassed and will be surpassed by the event of this year, the details of which follow. Men, women and children are to share in the savings made possible by the wonderful lowering of prices. We predict and expect the biggest and busiest sale these departments have ever had—and if YOU know values, you'll be here with all Washington to-morrow—

FUN FOR TRAFFICMEN

Officials Lose Their Cares at Chesapeake Beach.

GUESTS OF RAILWAY COMPANY

Men of Tickets, Tariffs, and Schedales Occupy Two Parlor Cars for Trip-Dinner Served at Hotel Belvidere-"Jolly Tars" Shut Out "Rail Birds" in Ball Game.

Just to cut loose from official care for one brief afternoon, forty-five members of the Washington Traffic Club yesterday went to Chesapeake Beach.

The green-bule bay's exhilerating breezes favored the mood. These men o ftickets and tariffs and schedules did cut loose. An hour's fast ride away from desks and card indexes and typewriters and time tables, and they were for six jolly hours again boys, who dived in the surf, and yelled and dined and played baseball.

The Washington Traffic Club is an organization of representatives of the railroad and water lines with Washington agencies. The present club is a revival of an older one, the revival dating only from last fall.

Chesapeake Railway Host. The trip was made at the invitation of the Chesapeake Beach Railway Company, which provided two parior cars for the special schedule, with the start at 1:30

YESTERDAY IN CONGRESS.

SENATE.

The first two hours of the session of the Senate were devoted to discussing Senator Bristow's motion instructing the Judiciary Committee to report a resolution for the election of United States Senators by popular vote. The matter was discussed until 2 o'clock, when it was displaced by the unfinished business, the postal savings bank bill. After discussing the postal savings bank bill two hours an agreement was reached to take it up Monday and dispose of it. The Senate adjourned at 4 p. m. until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

HOBBIES OF WASHINGTONIANS.

Baron Rosen, the Ambassador of the Empire of Russia, is a passionate newspaper reader. He reads every paper he happens to lay his hand on, whether Russian, American, French, or German, new or old, and he reads everything in it without discrimination.

When seen by The Washington Herald man the baron evinced deep interest in American newspaper methods—in the ways and means of obtaining the news, ransmitting it, editing it, in the intricacies of headline making, which he and many others imagine to be done off-hand and haphazardly.

"What I am at a loss to understand is how in the world they manage to get the news out in print so quickly. Surely the writing of the article, its setting, and printing the whole issue must take up considerable time," said he.
"Once, on landing in New York, I was besieged by a horde of reporters. I did not say anything at all to them, of course. But this is not the point. I had scarcely reached the place I put up at when newsboys were already selling afternoon papers with a long story about myself-a pure concection, of course, outside the bare fact of my arrival, but with my picture in it and those of the members of my family, snapped aboard, and what not." The baron is fond of the sea and all kinds of sport connected with it. He detests collections of any kind-the almost universal hobby of diplomats.

the residence of President Lowell, of Harvard University, whose guest he will be at a luncheon to be served at 1:30. At 3:30 in the afternoon he will go to the Harvard Stadium to the formal opening exercises of the educational convenion, where he is to be the chief speaker, As soon as the exercises in the stadium are over he will leave for his summer residence at Beverly.

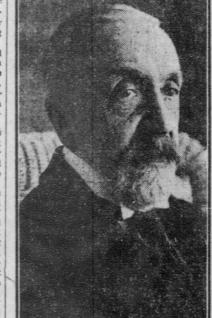

Her Last Days Her Best.

From the Emporia (Kans.) Gazette. A venerable colored woman of Coffey that the dark," said she; and while she had no objections to crossing the bar she wanted to see all her friends before embarking. So she published a card in the local papers expressing the wish that her friends would call upon her at her lowly abode and say good-by. She had many friends, white and black, all of whom had a great respect for her, for she was a good woman all of the older time; and they went to her little shack and found her cheerful and optimistic. Death was a trifling thing, to be sure, but a fine old woman, all of the olden time, didn't think it was just right to International Small Bore Match between Announced.
